Snapshot of an African Background

Past member East African Professional Hunters Assoc.

Honorary Kenya Game Warden

Bush pilot

Safari Guide (hunting & photographic)

African Wildlife Photographer

Wildlife conservation societies

Hal Cope (better known as "Bwana Hal") first traveled to Africa in the 1962 after purchasing Safari Air Services, based in Nairobi, Kenya. As a young man, he always dreamed of going to Kenya to hunt the "big five" - Lion, Leopard, Rhino, Elephant and the always dangerous Cape buffalo.

It was the late actor William Holden who turned Hal's hunting ambitions from gun to camera and instilled in him the need to work with African Wildlife conservation programs. Elephants became Hal's passion. During the five years he lived in Kenya, Hal became an approved Professional Hunter (BWH – Big White Hunter) and was inducted into the East African Professional Hunters Association. The Kenya Government honored him by naming him an Honorary Kenya Game Warden. He was given several assignments to do game control work. Hal conducted both hunting and photographic safaris in Kenya for family and friends. He served on the Board of Directors of the East African Conservation society, and in later years served on similar boards in Botswana, Zambia and Zimbabwe.

During the Kenya years Hal had the honor and privilege of working with many well known personalities of era including his friends Bill Holden, General Jimmy Doolittle, George and Joy Adamson of "Born Free" fame, President Jomo Kenyatta, Ray Ryan who owned the Mt. Kenya Safari Club, Astronauts Conrad and Cooper on their visit to Kenya, Sir Michael Wood of the East African Flying Doctor Service and actor John Mills during the filming of "Cowboy in Africa".

After retiring from his 42 year career in airline management, Hal continued his African Odyssey becoming a volunteer for the International Executive Service Corps serving in Belize, Croatia (at the height of the war), Botswana, Zambia and Zimbabwe for the past twelve years. During this period Hal has continued his interest in photography of African Wildlife by conducting photographic safaris & working in elephant conservation activities including befriending an elephant named Mphamvou whose mother was killed by poachers when she was less than a year old. Hal assisted in the training of Mphamvou who now responds to commands which allow her to be controlled around people. Each Sunday citizens of Lusaka come to the Game Ranch where Mphamvou lives to see and pet her. Hal now is trying to raise funds to have Mphamvou inseminated so she can produce her own child.

Hal also constructed and managed four African wildlife parks known as "Lion Country Safari" as a means of introducing masses of people to the wonder and beauty of African Wildlife. Hal was raised in Cottonwood, AZ, recently returning to his home state after almost 60 years relocating in Scottsdale. Bwana Hal would return to Africa on a private treaty basis to lead a safari or two a year.
